Why are the coordinates of my observation displayed as 0,0?

In order for your device to record the most accurate location of your observation, your GPS must be enabled. If the coordinates for your observation are listed as (0,0), your GPS is not on.

To activate the GPS, go into the settings of your device and make sure that location services are enabled. It is suggested that you completely close the iMap Mobile App and reopen it after the GPS settings have been enabled.
